

ABSTRACT

A microstructure and the method for making the same are disclosed herein. The microstructure has structural members, at least one of which comprises an intermetallic compound. In making such a microstructure, a sacrificial material is employed. After completion of forming the structural layers, the sacrificial material is removed by a spontaneous vapor phase chemical etchant.